Introduction

The United States has the largest and deepest capital markets in the world – according to the Federal Reserve, capital markets provide almost 80% of debt financing for businesses in the U.S. The securities industry facilitates access to those markets, creating investor opportunity, capital formation, job creation and economic growth.

- U.S. stock market market capitalization – the total value of publicly traded domestic companies – was $27.4 trillion as of end-2016.
- Over 100 companies conducted initial public offerings in the U.S. in 2016 raising over $17.8 billion in new capital – creating new value for the companies, their employees and their investors.
- The $8.5 trillion corporate bond market is the largest in the world: almost 1,400 companies issued $1.5 trillion in corporate bonds to fund their operations and growth in 2016.
- U.S. municipal issuers raised $445.8 billion in 2016 to finance important community infrastructure projects including schools, airports, roads and bridges.
