

Securities & Financial Markets is a Specialty

Search is Our Service

Let us take care of the work. Our exhaustive search is uniquely designed to uncover subject matter expert candidates that meet your every requirement.

Case 10025

Foreign exchange expert experienced in the use of derivatives such as currency swaps as tools for currency manipulation.

Case 6571

Finance expert with a background in utility accounting, business intelligence, and global consulting across a multitude of industries.

Speak to your client manager to discuss your expert needs. This information is incorporated into our search. We have developed a network of resources, relationships, and capabilities devoted to finding the subject matter expert you seek.

We contact the best available candidates, not just the best experts in a directory.

We conduct an extensive assessment of the candidates, including background & industry experience, academic credentials & publications, litigation support history & testimony experience, and critical communication skills.

We present only the most qualified experts, fully vetted, free of conflicts, and ready to join your team. We coordinate and facilitate the interviews with the expert candidates. You choose whether to engage the experts we present.

We facilitate the contracts and billing, leaving you more time to focus on your case with confidence in your budget. Your job is to practice law. Our job is to manage everything else.

