

FINANCIAL SERVICES

We understand the breadth of issues that financial institutions have to contend with on a daily basis.

Our clients benefit not only from the strong regulatory background we bring to the table—many of our attorneys previously served as senior officials at key regulatory agencies and industry groups—but also from the multidisciplinary approach our team brings to bear on every matter. Whether your institution is seeking counsel on an SEC investigation, developing or revising a compliance plan, or navigating the regulatory maze of Washington, DC, our team offers a full complement of resources to guide you in virtually every aspect of your business.

Clients include investment advisers, broker-dealers, large investment banks, community banks, private funds (private equity and hedge funds), and BDCs.
